MICHAEL EVAN WILLIAMS
2024 BIO

Michael Evan Williams has always had a desire to create, tell stories, and sing. Stuffed animal videos filmed on digital camera, stop-motion Legos, and self-written skits as a kid would turn into seriously pursuing theater in high school along with comedy videos, mashups, playing in a band, and songwriting. He attended Webster Conservatory in St. Louis, Missouri receiving a BFA in Musical Theater in 2015, and directly after booked the National Tour of “Bullets Over Broadway”. He then moved to New York in 2017 to pursue every method of storytelling and to sing as often as he can. Toward the end of this first year in in NYC he joined the active roster of the “Broadway Boys”, a singing group founded by Jesse Nager that creates gospel, funk, and R&B arrangements of Broadway songs with 6-part harmonies. This group helped Michael hone his voice in ways he would have never imagined. After the pandemic, Michael has desired to incorporate his love of singing, songwriting, creating worlds in “D&D”, and many other passions to come alongside his career ambitions, to make a life for himself wherever he goes.
